

Our Rickleton Magic Box

In my magic box I will put...

A green flying giraffe to help us to reach high things,
A black and white spotty dino with a trampoline backpack to help us to exercise,
A blue capybara to help us complete homework,
And some yellow shoes to help us run fast.

I will put in the box...

A magic shiny wand
A rainbow singing axolotl
A flying pink unicorn
A rainbow magic hat
A rainbow flying cat who does your homework for you
A flying, spotty dinosaur
And a fire breathing dragon

In our magic box, we will put...

A magic feather that can turn you into anything,
A book that reads itself,
A magic shark that can help us to swim,
A pencil to do our homework for us,
And magic shoes to help us run really fast!

I will put in the box

Fluffy clouds that rain sweets,
A cool dragon that breathes out sparkles,
A key that unlocks the stars.

In our magic box, we would put a pumpkin that tells jokes,
A coat that turns you invisible,
And a rainbow that shines colourful lights.

I will put in the box

The tick tock from a grandfather clock passing for the last time,
Creaking slowly, a mouse's door
The sway of a tree, its fingers stretching through a misty morning,
The warmth of my favourite coat in the middle of winter
And the shimmering reflection of a sparkling mirror.

I will put in the box.

A violet, timeworn clock that travels to the future.
A tall tree that is a broomstick for a giant.
A Stone Age, bronze door that leads you to a different dimension.
A wooden coat that turns you invisible.
And an oval, crystal mirror that clones you into your desired self.

I will put into the box

The smell of delicious dinners and the joy of knowing what's to come.
The warmth of a smile on a difficult day.
A sea of hands buzzing to answer questions.
The thunder of feet on the last day of school.
And some exciting news that you can't wait to tell.

I will put in the box

The first snow falling in Winter
A baby's laugh
The sound of a Christmas cracker being pulled
A T-REX surfing the waves of the Atlantic
And the feather of a burning phoenix

I will put in the box

The memory of my puppies first bark
The first share of laughter with my best friend
The crisp air while stepping off a plane
The sound of applause after well- deserved achievement
And the sound of a new football hitting the back of the net

I will put in the box

The memory of my friends and families smiles,
The feel of a plane landing on holiday
Feeling the warm Autumn sunshine on my face
The first bite of a birthday cake
The cool splash of jumping in the pool
And the thought of fluffy unicorns dancing on rainbows.
